of the citizens, the president of the board of Commissioners, and the mayor, councilmen, and members of the Board of Guardians, at the council-chamber, for the purpose of informing them of the measures adopted to provide against the mischievous consequences of the recent disturbances, with a view of obtaining the advice and co-operation of those respectable bodies in the measures that are about to be adopted. The meeting was conducted in a regular and orderly manner, and the business of the evening was transacted with great propriety and without a single innovation. The president directed the attention of the meeting to the necessity of immediate measures for the protection of the peace and order of the city, and the preservation of the safety of life and property of the citizens. He stated that the disturbances which had taken place were the result of insubordination and obstinacy, and that they had been brought about by a spirit of violence and licentiousness, which had been encouraged by a course of misconduct on the part of the people, and which had been countenanced by the inactivity of the government. He called upon the citizens to unite in the support of the government, and to assist in the maintenance of the peace and order of the city. He also directed the attention of the meeting to the importance of the measures which had been taken for the protection of the property of the citizens, and to the necessity of the people being prepared to meet any further disturbances that might be attempted. The meeting adjourned at six o'clock.