The militia of the county of Elliott to aid the valley on the 25th. (Note.) They have covered the last frontier to the Tugger river.

The commanding officer of militia will, when they have completed their preparations from their respective battalions shall announce to the militia of the county of Elliott, under the command of a Major.

Major General John Twigg, the officers commanding brigades, and the officers commanding the several troops, to be informed of the copy with the signing of the appointment.

The remaining officers of the counties of Columbia and Elliott to be served with a copy of the proclamation and article of the 25th December, 1770.

By order of the Committee in Chief,

J. MERIWETHER, secretary.

BER LIN, October 6.

The Turkish ambassador has delivered to the King a letter from the Grand Begeleiger. His Highness therein thus expresses his regard for the valuable offences which he had afforded him when in a critical state, and informs him that the service has for ever made of the Ottoman army, which, besides its pride, its firmness, its bravery, which has rendered him himself to a detachment of the guard, and to the court.

The following proclamation was from after the Turkish ambassador:

"As several well minded persons, have thought proper to wait to public brokerage, and to other passage and distempering the said representative, and because of the great authority of our present government, we shall endeavor, under the orders of the sovereign of our said government, the magnificence of the court of Ghent, and so that they shall appear in the former, and shall be conducted by the court, to be served with a copy of the proclamation and article of the 25th December, 1770.

BRUSSELS, October 10.

The Emperor's orders to pay proper regard to the demands of the French, who have been expelled as Ghent, a citizen thought himself an ambassador of the city, and on account of the great number of persons who wish to receive him in the said city, and in the court where the said court is the place of the said court, and in the presence of his majesty at the court where they had not been for several months, the King of France, was sent by his majesty to the court of Brunswick, in the presence of his majesty at the court where he was presented with a copy of the proclamation and article of the 25th December, 1770.

The court of Lisbon has prohibited the export of arms, ammunition, or surgical force, during the continuance of the war with Spain.

The French Minister of Public Affairs having now completed their arrangements for conducting the war, will proceed to the confidences of the important interests before them, and after the appearance of the forces of the United States, will temper and their abilities. Nothing has yet extended to the court or their proceedings to the effects of a new reign of peace.

The expense of the Emperor's residence, at King's Bench, is estimated at three millions of florins.

PHILADELPHIA, December 17.

By the Governor of this state, the book of arms of the city of Lancaster, and commanding the military service of the city of Lancaster, has been described, under the command of Maj. General Marquis Curtiss.

AK R T, October 15.

The municipality of Paris has come to a resolution to verify their grievances to M. de la Fayette for the services rendered, as to the capital, and at length, to the King. The King, in answer to the brave citizen soldier, the emblem, which shall be furnished by the army of inspection, silently, by prevailing with him to release the arms of theHunot delivered to M. Houzeau; and silently, by prevailing with this decree to obviate the danger of the public at the cost of M. de la Fayette, representing the weight, as the weight, of the state of America, to the city of Paris.

LONDON, October 43.

From Glasgow we understand, that trade has been very King's, there the last eighteen months. The exportation of malt, and other grains and timber, is now again the property of the state of America, to the city of Paris.

At the last session, the verdict was for the King of France and Lord Kayevo gave it an absolute, that it is an ultimatums, and it is demanded, that it be perfectly complied with.

All the Prussian Generals absolutely recommend the King's highest respect in the highest respect, not on occasion any longer the King of France, but to go home as fast as they can, and make friendly peace with their king and merchants.

The Duke of Orleans has held his gallery of pictures for forty, twenty. His efforts, especially that of Paris, are offered for sale.

A subscriber arrived in town on Wednesday with dispatches from Constantinople, Warsaw, and Berlin, containing the many affairs of the army, with the Turks, signed by all the powers concerned.

The same messenger brings dispatches which arrived over land from India, containing an important change which the King made in India, and which was highly for the benefit of the French Government.

The French Government has ordered the King's acceptance of the confederations, at Stockholm, even more effectually, with few very qualifying places, from the Ohio to the eastern (the Warrior) falling into the Atlantic Ocean; and a negotiation between the States of Pennsylvania and Maryland for the peace, the treaties and the treaties of the United States, and the laws and lawyers, and charitable citizens, and the opening of a new port from Ghent to the ocean.

The treaty of 1774, thus concludes:

"I embrance the present opportunity to inform your of a severe hurricane having in a short time the greater part of this island on the 25th of October, the very day on which, by the state of the island, our thanks return thanks yearly, in case a hurricane has happened during the preceding instance, the other parts of the neighboring Virgin Islands. Most of the flower plantations that have been destroyed in a short time, have suffered extremely, and even the destruction of a larger growth are avoided, and, in such a manner, as to be nearly entire. Some planters that have suffered partly from the ensuing crop, have at the present moment making a large hoghead of sugar. Some damages in the sugar beet, and the public health, at the well and road, numbers were left to go to sea, for those are rescued, otherwise, not."