EXECUTOR'S SELL. 2001 Acres of Land in First Division.

PROPOSALS for a new Player to be published in the City of Augusta, Etc. 1825.

Augusta Observer.

September 30, 1825.

Twenty Dollars Reward.

WILLIAM ASHLEY is the name of a fox hound lately lost in the neighborhood of Fort Ligonier in the County of Huntingdon, Pa., and is thought to have been killed by Indians. All information of such will be rewarded as soon as possible.

James Carnegie.

Clinton, October 6th, 1825.

Ten Dollars Reward.

The above reward is offered to any one who will bring in the body of the above-mentioned fox hound, or inform us how he may be killed. He is a large, black fox, with a thorn in his tail, and was last seen near the town of Fort Ligonier in this County.

Peter Remsen.

NOTICE.

This notice is published in the interest of the Premium Committee, as the Committee have determined to give a Premium for a person who will bring in the body of the above-mentioned fox hound, or inform us how he may be killed.

Peter Remsen, Jr.

Wwww.

NOTICE.

This notice is published in the interest of the Premium Committee, as the Committee have determined to give a Premium for a person who will bring in the body of the above-mentioned fox hound, or inform us how he may be killed.

Peter Remsen, Jr.

NOTICE.

This notice is published in the interest of the Premium Committee, as the Committee have determined to give a Premium for a person who will bring in the body of the above-mentioned fox hound, or inform us how he may be killed.

Peter Remsen, Jr.

Wwww.

NOTICE.

This notice is published in the interest of the Premium Committee, as the Committee have determined to give a Premium for a person who will bring in the body of the above-mentioned fox hound, or inform us how he may be killed.

Peter Remsen, Jr.

Wwww.

NOTICE.

This notice is published in the interest of the Premium Committee, as the Committee have determined to give a Premium for a person who will bring in the body of the above-mentioned fox hound, or inform us how he may be killed.

Peter Remsen, Jr.

Wwww.

NOTICE.

This notice is published in the interest of the Premium Committee, as the Committee have determined to give a Premium for a person who will bring in the body of the above-mentioned fox hound, or inform us how he may be killed.

Peter Remsen, Jr.

Wwww.