Mr. Beeland Held the Office for Ten Consecutive Years and Will Serve Four Years Longer.

From Savannah comes the news that unusual preparations are being made for the State Sunday School convention which meets in this city May 8 and 9. The membership of the state churches of all denominations of this city seems to be vying with one another as to which can get the most people to serve as delegates. Every Sunday school superintendent in the state whose name and address can be received will be mailed to other Sunday schools at a cost of five cents for the state. In all 1,200 copies are being mailed out.

An excess of the state, except four, are now organized into Sunday school associations, and have president, secretary and division presidents, and three officers, professors and other officers as required. The federated superintendent is asked to help boost the convention. The committee of three, representing the state, issued 3,000 picture posters printed in four colors showing pictures of 21 of the 63 conventions which have been held, and sent out to the superintendents of the Sunday School superintendents' and Sunday school workers in every county in the state.

Chero-Cola Day a Decided Success.

An unique advertising scheme which was employed by the Chero-Cola bottling plants is one of the strongest all over the country on Wednesday, March 15, when it was termed "National Chero-Cola Day." This day was most universally observed in all towns and cities where Chero-Cola bottling plants are located. It was the occasion for "open house" to consumers, who were so numerous that reports tell of thousands upon thousands who were invited and entertained. This day was also the date of the grand opening of the Chero-Cola bottling plants and offices which were all made public by a large company distributed to all their officers and employees and the sanitation and cleanliness of the places of business were distinctly shown. Mr. James B. Raho, who has charge of the Chero-Cola bottling Works in Montezuma had everything unusually arranged for this day and the sales floor of the day were more than five hundred people called, each being served with Chero-Cola while in the office or in the store, and in the method in which the drink is made.

Endorsement of Prof. Fulton and His School of Telegraphy.

Savannah Plans For Big S. Convention.

The following resolutions will be presented, and we assume without any question, at the annual session today of the Taylor County Confederate Veterans at Bainbridge, Georgia.

We, the Taylor County Confederate Veterans, in our annual meeting last week, while observing the food conference, urging the United States government to do away with all breweries and distilleries in which they are in the commission and production of foodstuffs, to urge again in terms of the necessities of the United States government, that the city of Atlanta and the state of Georgia is the place where the food conference will be held in the state of Georgia.

The meeting was a noble one in view of the reputation present from counties all over the state, and the state superintendent’s convention is expected to be the leading of the state of Georgia and the governmental. The state government will be attended by each of the main counties in the state, and the presence of the young men of Taylor county will be on May 8, 9, and 10. The meeting will be continued by the Butler Van Guards.

We commend the spirit of the men who have been working and the progress of their work in the field of the Butler Van Guards.

RESOLUTIONS COMMEMDING BUTLER VANGUARDS.

Mr. J. R. Beeland, who was appointed by Judge A H Riley to be sheriff for the interim term, was duly elected for a term of four years, and we assume that he will be the best man to fill the position. J. R. Beeland held the office of sheriff for the county for consecutive years, and has served the county only a few years. The number of taxes assessed for the county last year was $332, J. L. Hart, 47; number of voters polled, 621. Mr. Beeland was a public-spirited man, and made many contributions to the interest of the county, and his friendliness and courtesy and understanding of the people, and the many things he did for the benefit of the county, will be remembered by all.

The consolidated vote of the county was as follows: J. R. Beeland, 457; M. L. Riley, 322; L. J. Hart, 45. Number of votes polled, 621. Mr. Beeland was a public-spirited man, and made many contributions to the interest of the county, and his friendliness and courtesy and understanding of the people, and the many things he did for the benefit of the county, will be remembered by all.

Mr. Beeland was a public-spirited man, and made many contributions to the interest of the county, and his friendliness and courtesy and understanding of the people, and the many things he did for the benefit of the county, will be remembered by all.

Mr. Beeland was a public-spirited man, and made many contributions to the interest of the county, and his friendliness and courtesy and understanding of the people, and the many things he did for the benefit of the county, will be remembered by all.

Mr. Beeland was a public-spirited man, and made many contributions to the interest of the county, and his friendliness and courtesy and understanding of the people, and the many things he did for the benefit of the county, will be remembered by all.

Mr. Beeland was a public-spirited man, and made many contributions to the interest of the county, and his friendliness and courtesy and understanding of the people, and the many things he did for the benefit of the county, will be remembered by all.